Unions, Chamber & partners help raise money for Union Square

The Port of Sacramento Labor Alliance will join the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and the West Sacramento Moose Lodge in a joint effort to raise funds for the West Sacramento Parks and Recreation Department's efforts to maintain River Walk Park.

The alliance, an affiliation of the labor unions involved with the Port of Sacramento, came up with the idea of a special parks fund during efforts to dedicate part of the River Walk as "Union Square."

A Mexican-food dinner and dancing to the Cajun rhythms of the Ron Bombardier and the Gold Country Cajun dance band on Sat., Oct. 27, will help raise money for the fund. The event will take place at 6 p.m. at the I.L.W.U. Hall, 600 4th St. in West Sacramento. Admission is $10 at the door.

"Waterfront labor has been an important part of the workforce in our community for nearly 40-years," said "Buddy" Linker, Sr., of I.L.W.U. Longshore Local #18. "It's a natural for port labor, the chamber and members of the Moose Lodge to work together to preserve the beauty of the River Walk."

"An event of this nature really brings the many facets of West Sacramento together in working towards a common goal," said activist Jeff Henry, who helped work towards the Union Square dedication. "It's a win-win for the entire community."

Recycling now at River Walk park

Mayor Mark Montemayor helped kick off a new recycling program at River Walk park on the West Sacramento waterfront on Sept. 28.

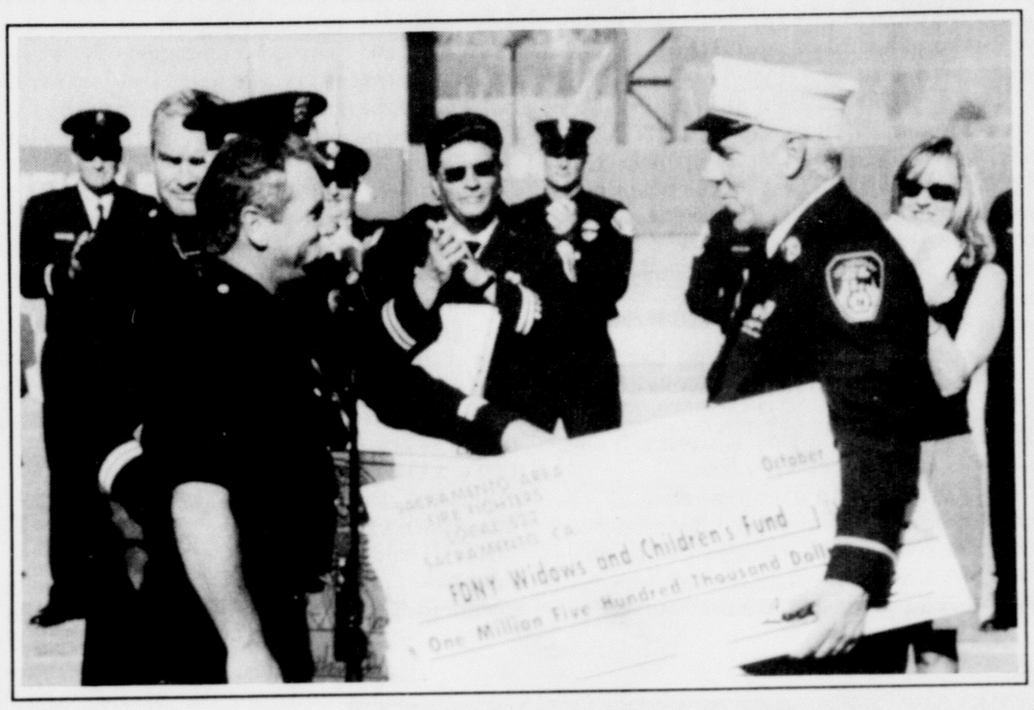

Visitors can now place their empty plastic bottles and soda cans in any of 12 new recycling collection containers at the riverfront park. "Keep America Beautiful," a statewide nonprofit organization, purchased the receptacles through a cooperative agreement with the state Department of Conservation.

Shown above are George Gomes, a board member of Keep America Beautiful; Jim Ferguson, a deputy director of the Dept. of Conservation; and Mayor Montemayor.

A 'boot drive' by area firefighters to raise money for those affected by the deaths of hundreds of New York City firefighters in the Sept. 11 terrorist attack on the World Trade Center capped off Oct. 9 at Raley Field in West Sacramento.
Firefighters joined Gov. Gray Davis and other officials in turning over several million dollars in funds to representatives of the New York Fire Dept.
The donations included over $1.5 million raised by Sacramento-area firefighters from local community members.
The money will go to relieve families affected by the deaths of about 300 firefighters when the World Trade Center towers collapsed.

Through Oct. 31, you can view photo contest prize-winners at Turner Branch Library on Merkley

The prize-winning photographs from the 2001 city photo contest are on display through October 31st at the Arthur F. Turner county library, 1212 Merkley Avenue. The library's Community Room features enlargements of the top photos selected in the "15 Days in May" contest, sponsored by the City of West Sacramento, in association with the News-Ledger, the West Sacramento Press, and Carwen Printing.

The contest challenged amateur photographers to take their "best shot" at West Sacramento between the dates of May 1 and May 15, 2001. Contestants could choose any subject for their photo, as long as the subject was located within the West Sacramento city limits.

The Turner display features the first, second and third place winners (who each received cash prizes) and can be viewed during regular library hours. Visitors can also pick up free copies of the "Days in May Photo Contest Collection", a 20-page booklet of top photos from the contest's three year history.

Local youths return from mission

Nineteen young people and their advisors from the First Baptist Church of West Sacramento recently returned from a weeklong missions trip to the city of Rosarito, Mexico. This was the groups third year of ministry to the area, which is some 25-30 miles south of San Diego. Activities included teaching bible verses and telling bible stories using puppets to neighborhood children. While in Mexico, the group stayed at Rancho Yugo, which is near Tijuana and is owned and operated by Yugo Ministries, which is a missions organization dedicated to recruiting Christian youth groups in America to minister to poor children in Mexico.

Sandwiches for the trip down to Mexico were prepared by Gloria at West Sacramento's Freddies Gourmet.

Thomson placed on Sept. 11 panel

Assemblywoman Helen Thomson (Democrat-Davis), Chair of the Assembly Health Committee, recently announced that she was appointed to a special bipartisan task force which seeks to assess the effect of the September 11th tragedy on the State of California.

The Task Force, made up of the chair and vice chair of eight Assembly standing committees, will convene public hearings to gauge the impact of the terrorist events on public health and safety, the California economy, and the state's fiscal health.

"I pledge my support for our state government's efforts to take all the necessary steps to vanquish the perpetrators of this brutal act and to prevent such a horrific devastating event from ever occurring again," Assemblywoman Thomson said.

Just how did West Sacramento get its bad reputation?

Note: A relatively new subscriber who moved to this area a few years ago recently called the News-Ledger, said she had been told that I had once written a column about how West Sacramento got its bad reputation (which she had heard lots about but couldn't believe because everyone in town has been so welcoming and friendly to her), and asked if I would please reprint that column when I could. My pleasure.

A couple of weeks ago, my 21-year old daughter and her best friend (I'll call her Amy) decided to go to one of those trendy Christmas parties that the in-crowd attends this time of year. All they told me before they left was that the party was going to be held in a very exclusive neighborhood in Rocklin and that they had heard the place was going to be crawling with really cute guys with good jobs and lots of money.

"Feel free to marry one of them and move out on your own!" I called out to my daughter as she and Amy, both of whom were dressed to impress, hurried out my front door.

Being the concerned (nosy, actually) father I am, I waited up until way past my bedtime to hear all the juicy details, but unfortunately, I fell asleep in the middle of an old Gary Cooper movie (Sergeant York) and had to wait until the next day to begin the debriefing.

"So," I said to both of them at breakfast (Amy had spent the night), "how did the party go?"

"Well," said my daughter, "at least everything went pretty well for the first couple of hours."

"Then what happened?" I asked with interest.

"Your big-mouth daughter went and blew our cover, that's what happened," said Amy, which made my daughter smile.

"Blew your cover?" I asked.

"That's right," said Amy. "Go on, Carrie, tell your dad how you screwed up the whole night big time."

"All I did," mumbled Carrie apologetically, "was kinda mention where we were from."

"What?" I asked, still a little confused.

"Well," explained my daughter, "this really cute guy asked me where I lived, and I went ahead and told him I was from West Sacramento."

"She didn't just tell one person," quickly corrected Amy, "she told a whole group of guys, and each one of them happened to be a babe, too."

"Oh," I said with compassion, having often myself been subjected to that look of horror (actually, I think it's a mixture of pity and revulsion) in the eyes of an otherwise normal person when informed they are talking to a real live West Sacramentan. "Then what happened?"

"Well," answered my daughter, "let's just say I'm not going to be getting married to a rich guy from Rocklin and be moving out of the house any time soon."

"You know," said Amy, "I actually think those poor guys at the party got scared of us when Carrie told them we were from West Sacramento."

"Yeah," said Carrie to me, "and just what is that all about, anyway? I mean, just exactly what did your generation do to make everyone on the other side of the river scared to death of anybody who lives in West Sacramento?"

"My generation?" I asked with as much indignation as I could muster up. "What's my generation got to do with it?"

"Admit it," said Amy matter-of-factly, "you were all a bunch of hoodlums."

"Hey," I said with conviction, "I was not a hoodlum! Now I may have had a few friends who were hoodlums, but with the possible exception of this one guy who was absolutely determined to move to New York and join the Mafia once he graduated from James Marshall, they were actually all very nice."

"I'm serious," said my daughter, "just how did West Sacramento's big bad reputation get started anyway? Why are so many people from Sacramento and Davis scared to even drive through here?"

"Well," I said, if you girls really want to know the truth, to my knowledge, it all began with the choice of one's footwear."

"Footwear?" asked my daughter. "You mean shoes?"

"That's right," I tried to explain. "You see, back in the 1950s and 1960s, there were only two kinds of teenagers -- those who wore hard shoes -- the 'hards' -- and those who wore tennis shoes -- the 'frats'."

"What?" asked Amy, beginning to laugh.

"And almost all of the guys who attended Sacramento high schools back then," I continued, "wore these really ugly tennis shoes. They also wore white socks and pants that looked like they were going to a flood, kinda like they belonged in a fraternity, thus the nickname 'frats'. On the other hand, if you were from West Sacramento, you proudly wore shiny black hard shoes, and I'm not talking just any old hard shoes, either. They had to be very, very pointed, and if your toes weren't crying out in agony, then your shoes weren't pointed enough. Anyway, for reasons that I guess no one back then ever really fully understood, whenever a 'hard' ran into a 'frat', there was usually a fight. And as you might expect, the guy wearing the hard pointed shoes usually won."

"So," said my daughter, "then you were all a bunch of hoodlums?"

"Absolutely not!" I said. "In fact, most of the so-called hoodlums I knew grew up to be fine, upstanding citizens -- like the one that married his James Marshall High School sweetheart who now manages a big old fancy bank and is still making sure her old West Sac Jack stays out of trouble."

"Hey, wait a minute," said Amy, looking over at Carrie, "my mom manages a big old fancy bank."

"Is that right?" I said.

Joke of the week: A man stopped at a friends house and found him stalking around with a flyswatter. When the man asked his friend if he was getting any flies, he answered, "Yeah, three males and two females." Curious, the man asked his friend how he could tell the difference. He answered, "Three were on a beer can and two were on the phone."

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

I'm back just in time from my short vacation to watch the 2001 Major League All-Star game on Tuesday night from the new Safeco Field in Seattle. The Giants are 5 ½ games behind the Diamondbacks in the West but they still managed to land three starting players in mid-season classic with Rich Aurilia, Jeff Kent and the league home run leader, Barry Bonds leading the stars. Jason Giambi, who was the lone Oakland player selected, is the main topic of rumors in Seattle that have him heading to New York to wear the Yankee pinstripes. The A's, who are dead last in the league with a team batting average of .250, added a little veteran punch with Ron Gant. The A's traded River Cat, Robin Jennings to the Colorado Rockies for the 35-year-old slugger.

The Sacramento Kings are in tough negotiations with free agents Chris Webber and Doug Christie for their services next season. The question of the week is where will Chris end up playing next season? There are 12 teams courting Webber but Detroit (his hometown) and San Antonio are the leading contenders for C-Webb. Webber may chose to stay in Sacramento but I think the Kings are working on a sign and trade situation while Christie works on a multi-year contract than would pay him around $8 million per year! The good news for Kings fans is that Kings first round pick, Gerald Wallace, scored 27 points in his first appearance in the summer pro league in Los Angeles.

Speaking of good news, the Sacramento Monarchs will have three players representing them at the WNBA All-Star game July 16th in Orlando. Yolanda Griffith, Ruthie-Bolton-Holifield and Ticha Penicheiro received strong voter support for the leagues 5th all-star game. The game will be televised on ESPN on July 16th from Orlando, Florida.

The Sacramento River Cats, who are only 3 ½ games out of first at the All-Star break with a 41-50 record, will be on the road until July 24th when they host the Memphis Redbirds. After the three day All-Star break the Gatos will return to action for 12 road games that start on Thursday, July 12th in Las Vegas. River Cats outfielder Eric Byrne will represent the Cats in Wednesday's Triple-A All-Star Game in Indianapolis. The game will be broadcast on ESPN2 and KCTC (1320) at 5 p.m.

In the boxing world, West Sacramento's Juan Lazcano (26-2-19 KO's) was promoted to No.2 in the World Boxing Council ratings. Lazcano is set to fight on September 1st on another ShowTime Boxing card that will be staged in Las Vegas or El Paso, Texas.

The Major League Soccer All-Star game will be held this year in San Jose on Saturday, July 28th. If you're interested in tickets to see the best soccer players in the MLS compete contact the West Sacramento Youth Soccer Club at (916) 372-7332. Tickets are priced at $20 with five dollars going to the West Sacramento Aztecs U-16 boy's team to purchase uniforms.

See ya next week!

Ole!

On a Tuesday afternoon, I stopped in at Emma's Taco House at lunchtime and found it packed with people enjoying their meal. I was amazed at how many groups of big men were partaking of Emma's tasty food – until I saw the large portions that were served.

Emma's Taco House opened in 1950, when Roger and Emma Rodriguez opened up the first taco house, which could only serve eight people. They have been in their present location since 1953, and can now feed 180 people at a time. The atmosphere at Emma's really impressed me with its cleanliness. There are white walls with a wallpaper border and dark green woodwork. Shelves hold an American Indian in full regalia astride a horse, as well as a gaucho (cowboy) on a horse. Engaging paintings also soothe the eye.

Emma's menu is extensive. I had a bowl of their vegetable soup, Spanish rice, a beef taco (loaded), and the best refried beans I ever had in my whole life. I also had an iced tea, but you can enjoy beer, wine or their famous Margaritas. Tuesday through Saturday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., you can enjoy two-for-one Margaritas. On Saturdays, you can enjoy two-for-one Bloody Marys from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Emma's is known as the "House of 36 Combination Dinners." For those who prefer American food, you can get a roast beef sandwich for $7.49 or a fried chicken platter for $8.49 – both with soup and French fries. Lunch prices range from $6.29 to $7.99 and dinners from $9.49 to $10.79. Perhaps you would rather dine at home? Emma's has orders to go – just call them to place an order.

This article would not be complete without the mention of the gracious and lovely young ladies serving the food, all with their hair up or neatly tied back off their face. You get no hair in your food at Emma's Taco House, 1617 Sacramento Ave., West Sacramento; 371-1151.

Or drop in to Emma's downtown Sacramento location, 723 K St.

Merkley Avenue between Jefferson Blvd. and West Capitol is fast becoming an "International Dining Alley." On one side of the street is La Bou and A's Chinese Food to Go, and on the opposite side of the street are Jealousy Catering (American), Johnnie's Sidewalk Pizza (Italian), Sal's Chipotle Grill (Mexican), Pooja Indian Grill (Indian), and Caffe Vienna (German/Austrian).

If fast food is your bag, you'll find plenty in West Sacramento: Carl's Jr., Taco Bell, Jimboy's Tacos, Del Taco, Eppie's, McDonald's, etc.

Be sure to take advantage of Nick's Diner's breakfast coupon on this page, which will give you a two-for-one breakfast. Hey, you seniors: did you know that Wednesday is Senior Nite '50s style, so you get a free entrée with the purchase of any entrée and two beverages at Nick's? The free entrée must be of equal or lesser value to the paid one.

Know someone who has everything? Then you need a Morrison's gift certificate. They come in all denominations and can be purchased from their First Street Deli & Wine Shop in Woodland. Stop in at the deli for one of their beautiful gift baskets, available for $25 and up.

I hope you all visited Vince's Italian restaurant on Columbus Day. Their specials were delicious!

HOLLYWOOD ... The events in the past have been so overwhelmingly incomprehensible, I have been unable to come up with words strong enough to express my feelings, so, I just brought you some light showbiz news to "keep our spirits up." However, now let me add my feelings to those already expressed. None of us will ever be the same. It's with heavy hearts that we try to write the "light" stuff ... Studios are on-guard, the Tinsel has gone out of Tinseltown, and Lalaland is no longer the laid-back, wacky land that everyone wants to visit ... But as the adage goes — "The Show Must Go On," and that's what everyone out this way is trying to do. We're giving blood, and money, and time, and whatever else it takes. So, as another old saying goes — "Chin Over the Dash" and let's get on with it.

According to a nationwide survey taken by Salon Selectives (before the tragedy), "Women are truly obsessed with their hair." If her hair is wrong, everything else is bad — hence that saying "A bad hair day." A survey was also taken on the "best hair in Hollywood," and Julia Roberts won hands down. (She certainly has a mane of gorgeous tresses.) Jennifer Aniston came in second, Debra Messing third and Gwyneth Paltrow fourth.

And speaking of Miss Paltrow. Yes. At this writing her romance with Luke Wilson is still abloom, although she is doing everything she can to help Ben Affleck (who is now just a good friend) to pull himself together and "stay clean."

Several weeks before disaster struck, Sylvester Stallone bought ANOTHER house. He loves them. I can't keep track of how many he owns and where. This one is in Beverly Hills adjacent to his present manse. It cost $16 million, and Sly says it will be a place for relatives and friends to stay. It also has a small guest house, which he plans to use as a studio. He loves to draw and paint, and he's really quite good.

Matter of fact, the real estate market was busy before "Twin Towers." Milla Jovovich, who co-stars with Ben Stiller in "Zoolander," sold her home in one of the city's older areas for $3.1 million and is looking toward the beach, and Ellen DeGeneres has her Hollywood Hills home on the market for $2 million. Any takers?

Julia Roberts

For hot inside stuff on the stars and others, try "The Smoking Gun" by William Bastone, Daniel Green and Barbara Glauber (Little, Brown). This one really tells and shows all. "How much Burt Reynolds spent on toupees, a copy of the confidentiality agreement signed by household help of Nicole and Tom," plus many more scandalous and bizarre facts. This should keep you busy for some time.

***

BITS 'N' PIECES: Aside to Karl L. of El Paso, Texas. Yes. Berry Berenson, who was killed on that ill-fated flight, was the mother of the Osgood Perkins you saw in "Legally Blonde." Just in case you didn't know, his father was the actor Tony Perkins and Osgood was named for Tony's father and his grandfather Osgood Perkins, a well-known actor of the past. Berry was also the sister of actress Marisa Berenson and the granddaughter of the famed dress designer Elsa Schiaparelli ... Sharon Stone spotted in a Rodeo Drive shoe store. She purchased six pairs ... Didya know Melanie Griffith was only 14 when she moved in with Don Johnson? They married when she was 18 and divorced a year later ... Aside to Peter G. of Sausalito, Calif. Natalie Portman was born in Jerusalem, Israel, on June 9, 1981; and Bruce Willis, whose first name is Walter, was born in Idar-Oberstein, Germany, on March 19, 1955.

West Sac student to compete at talent/model convention

River City High School ninth grader Cecily Daniel will compete with other prospective models at the International Modeling and Talent Association convention at the Westin Bonaventure in Los Angeles in January.

Cecily is represented by an agent. Those who compete in the model and talent convention are seen by agencies from every major market in the United States, as well as from Europe and Japan. Contestants are also eligible for cash prizes and scholarships.

Cecily is a high school cheerleader and was voted the freshman class "countess" for this year's homecoming festivities. Her parents are local businesspeople Jon and Tina Daniel.

Kids at local schools raise money for Red Cross disaster aid following Sept. 11

In the wake of the September 11th terrorist attacks on New York City and Washington, D.C., the students of the Washington Unified School District have collectively and creatively raised $2,198 to date for the relief effort.

Westmore Oaks Elementary School students raised $1,200 holding a car wash and a bake sale at West Sacramento's Whitey's Jolly Kone on September 30th, sixth-grader David Blake individually organized a donation drive which collected $140, $400 was raised between two Golden State Middle School classes who sold "peace grams", and the Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID) class collected donations from individuals. River City High School students also raised $360 for the Firefighter Relief Fund, a fifth grade class at Evergreen Elementary School collected $98 in a penny drive, and Southport Elementary School will be counting the donations that school raised for the American Red Cross on October 24th.

In addition, Westmore Oaks Elementary School students made three American flag cards the size of regulation flags which all students, staff and volunteers signed for the victims of the tragedy.

Superintendent Stu Greenfeld said, "The West Sacramento community can be very proud of their children, teachers and administrators, who have given so much of themselves in support of those who have suffered in the September 11th attacks on our country."

Bryte Bend plant to grow

West Sacramento is about to begin expansion of its drinking water plant near the Sacramento River at Bryte Bend, at the city's northern limits.

The existing plant has a capacity of treating 24 million gallons per day. Expansion – in two phases – will bring that capacity to 60 million gallons per day. Project manager Michael Bessette stated recently that the expansion will allow the plant to handle the city's water needs through the year 2020, when population is expected to reach approximately double the current head-count of 31,000.

First phase of the expansion will be in 2002, and the second phase will be timed to meet future growth. At projected rates, the plant's current capacity would become inadequate in 2004.

Expansion plans also include construction of a 36-inch water main to improve service to the Southport area, traveling south on Harbor Blvd., east on Industrial, and across the Palamidessi Bridge.

The project will be funded by the city's water enterprise fund, along with bonds and possible state and federal grants. HDR Engineering is the design consultant.

For more information, call Bessette at 373-5854.

Leland was an employee of PG&E for 47 years before retiring in 1999. Shirley was a homemaker while her children were growing up and then became the manager of Paris Boutique. Later she was the Custom Service Supervisor for Almond Plaza.

Shirley and Leland have been sweethearts since grade school, and among the guests were their best man, Tony Fonseca, and their maid of honor, Shirley (Hastie) Jackson. Also attending were local residents Arlene (Nevis) Simmons, her husband Gary, Theresa (Santiago) and Fred Fonseca, Irene (Ramos) Santiago, Alma (Lee) Marshall, Bob Strasser and his wife, Mary Ann, Babe Gonsalves, Ken Flint, Bob and Pat Pederson, Eleanor (Collins) and Milton Phillips, Gayle (Hastie) Pugh and her husband Rol, and Fred Caluya and his wife, Barbara.

Soroptimists plan annual 'Potpourri' craft faire/luncheon

Soroptimist International of West Sacramento members are busy planning their 25th Annual Potpourri Crafts Faire & Luncheon. This event has become a yearly happening in the West Sacramento community and many look forward to attending each fall. The November 3rd event will he held at the River City High School campus and the site is open to the public from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Admission to the Holiday Potpourri is free and there will be a pasta luncheon served from 10:30 to 1:30.

Soroptimist is a world wide service organization and their motto is "Best for Women". The West Sacramento Chapter of Soroptimist was charted in 1963 and the members have always taken an active interest in working with and for their community. They do many service orientated projects, some of which include: Yolo County's Battered Women's Shelter, the John H. Jones Community Service Clinic, holiday and recreation events for the patients at Somerset Convalescent Hospital, and delivery for Meals on Wheels to Shut-in's. They also work closely with the school district and their adopt a school project, have planned and furnished a soft interview room in the new police facility (which gives a victim a place to tell their story in a non-threatening environment), and gave $2,250 to local graduating seniors last year.

The Holiday Potpourri is the organizations major fundraiser for the year and all of the money earned from the event is spent on projects in the West Sacramento community. The merchandise that venders offer for sale have been handcrafted and you can find many unique one-of-a-kind items for sale. It is a great place to choose Christmas gifts and decorations, as well as something for yourself. Many of the vendors have been with the Crafts Faire for several years and look forward to the event.

Organizers are also always on the lookout for new venders to make the Holiday Potpourri an even more special event and anyone interested in seeking table space should contact Terri at 372-0211 or Lora at 991-2147, or 769-3136.

Save money: rebate for 'cool roof' use

A California Energy Commission rebate for installation of "cool roofs" has been extended to Oct. 31.

Buildings that qualify for the rebate by installing energy-reducing roofing surfaces include local government, educational, commercial and multi-family units. Before Oct. 31, the rebate is 20 cents per square foot; after that date, the rebate will drop to 15 cents per square foot.

"Cool roofs" can lower a building's energy requirements by over 20 percent, increase the lifespan of the roof, and reduce peak electricity demand. Cost of "cool roof" materials is usually about the same as for non-reflective surfaces, so the rebate makes installing a "cool roof" cheaper than a traditional roof, reports the Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District.

For information, call 1-888-891-2665, or visit www.lgc.org/techserve/coolroofs/.
